Dear Sue and David:

As a follow up to last Monday's Commission meeting, please accept this letter as confirmation that Comcast intends to revise our 2003 privacy notice later this fall. On an annual basis Comcast reviews and, as necessary, revises customer notices as an ongoing business practice. While we believe our current privacy notice is very clear, the company is confident that this year's revisions to the privacy notice will address the concerns raised to date by the Commission.

To that end, the company requests that Commission staff provide us with written comments by October 20, 2003 detailing any specific concerns the Commission and Commission staff have regarding our 2003 privacy notice. This will ensure the company understands the Commission's concerns. It will also help us to incorporate any changes we feel are appropriate for the privacy notice as part of our regular annual review and revision process.

The company will be reviewing and revising the privacy policy during November and December, 2003 to prepare for distribution of the 2004 privacy policy in a number of markets beginning in January, 2004.

Sincerely,

Kevin Bell
Senior Director, Government Affairs
